Headline:
Dry, bright start. Isolated showers developing, perhaps heavy later.

Today:
Dry, bright and largely sunny start. Cloud will build through the day, with the odd shower moving through, although many parts staying dry. A few heavier showers may develop by the afternoon, with the low chance of thunder and hail. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Tonight:
Evening showers fading, with a chilly, clear night and light winds following. Some thin cloud spreading east early Tuesday morning, but mist and fog patches possible where skies remain clear. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Tuesday:
Bright, sunny start for some, although thickening cloud and strengthening winds soon spreading east. Staying dry for most, and feeling rather mild. Low cloud and drizzle possible across Derbyshire hills. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Rather cloudy, but likely dry Wednesday, with an increasing chance of occasional rain Thursday and Friday. Rain perhaps turning persistent at times. Mild, and windy at times.
